Please join us for the inaugural Ascension Saint Thomas Multidisciplinary Lung Cancer Conference, an educational event dedicated to advancing the early detection, diagnosis, and treatment of lung cancer. Attendees will explore best practices in screening, innovations in robotic and minimally invasive techniques, and emerging therapies shaping the future of lung cancer care. This conference aims to strengthen collaboration and improve care for patients across every stage of their journey.

Who Should Attend?
This education is designed for physicians, APPs, nurses, and all other healthcare professionals who are involved in the ongoing care of patients with lung cancer. Pulmonologists, oncologists, thoracic and cardiothoracic surgeons, radiologists, pathologists, radiation oncologists, oncology nurses, palliative care providers, administrators, and advocacy representatives will all benefit from this multidisciplinary program.

Course Directors
Otis B. Rickman, DO
John F. Lazar, MD

Section Leaders
Wade T. Iams, MD
Mark P. Sittig, MD

Accreditation
