Please join us in-person or virtually for the second annual Ascension Saint Thomas Music City Women's Heart Symposium, dedicated to advancing cardiovascular care for women. This dynamic program will bring together leading experts to explore the unique challenges and emerging innovations in women's heart health across all stages of life. Attendees can expect engaging keynote presentations, insightful panel discussions, and the latest updates in prevention, diagnosis, and treatment through the lens of women's cardiovascular health. New this year, the symposium will also feature a poster session showcasing research, quality improvement initiatives, and innovative approaches to advancing women's heart care.

Who should attend?

This continuing medical education activity is intended for physicians, nurse practitioners, and physician assistants in the specialties of cardiology, cardiothoracic surgery, internal medicine, primary care, obstetrics and gynecology, maternal-fetal medicine, neurology, and emergency medicine who are involved in the care of women with or at risk for cardiovascular disease.

Accreditation

Ascension Saint Thomas is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

Endorsements

This symposium has been endorsed by the Tennessee Chapter of the American College of Cardiology.
